

An Introduction to Apprenticeships

Qdos Training focuses on providing the best possible experience in the process of recruiting an Apprentice. They are treated just as any other employee, same working hours, same rules and the same work load. An Apprentice will need to be released for the day for training roughly once every 2-3 months, the rest of the training is delivered by our assessors while they are working using work based assessments.

Benefits of using Qdos Training for Apprenticeships

- Specialisation in professional office based, marketing, retail, customer service, team leading and management roles in Leicestershire
